

[FAQ]

SHOWER GRILLES

Is a level access shower the same as a wet-floor shower?

No - a wet-floor shower covers the whole of the bathroom area, whereas a Neatdek 3 grille drains the water within a designated showering section and keeps the rest of the bathroom dry (and therefore safer underfoot). A wet-floor shower drains water using a slope in the floor, whereas a Neatdek 3 installation provides a surface that is completely gradient-free.

How do I decide which model to choose?

We offer a wide range of sizes for a variety of bathrooms. If you're replacing a bath, whether it's a large or a compact bath, we have a choice of rectangular grilles. If you're not replacing a bath, our square grilles are usually a better option. All models are listed in our comprehensive brochure with precise dimensions.

Do they have to be installed in a certain part of the bathroom?

No - we have a choice of grilles to fit wherever required. Some are designed for corner installation, others are designed to have just one side adjoining a wall and some are designed to be enclosed by walls on three sides. We even have an 'oasis' grille if you want to install it in the middle of the bathroom with no walls adjoining.

What is required to install the grille?

Our Neatdek 3 grille and tray systems are suitable for installation in either timber or solid/concrete floors and provide an elegant solution for the majority of situations. If you have a solid/concrete floor and require a more bespoke solution then you might want to consider creating your own drainage in the screed rather than using one of our trays - for this option please install our Neatdek 3 grille & frame system. These are available in a range of standard sizes or we can manufacture one to your preferred dimensions. Whichever option you choose, detailed installation guidelines can be downloaded from the Downloads page on our website. Alternatively please contact our customer service team for installation advice.

neaco

norton engineering alloys co ltd

balustrade | balconies | flooring | grilles | bathing

www.neaco.co.uk

